A motion was made by Julie G. and seconded by Pat M. to adjourn the meeting. All were in favor. The meeting was adjourned at 7:45 p.m.

After the meeting, Rob from Petropolis in Chesterfield, MO did a presentation on dog training.

Rainbow Bridge

Our thoughts and prayers go out to Susan Freund who recently lost another one of her Golden companions.

Toby

Just wanted to let everyone know that my Toby crossed the bridge on September. He was around 13 years old. I adopted him December 25, 1998. I acquired him in November 1998 from a Mixed breed rescue group who told me he was a she golden. When I first saw him, I knew he wasn't a pure bred Golden, but when I got home I also discovered that he was an intact male. I guess they never looked or had so many dogs they lost track. Anyway I fell for him and he stayed. He was a very friendly people dog, but was definitely leader of the pack at my house. He was the one who taught all of my foster dogs the ropes and put many of them in their place. Of course he mellowed some with age. Even though it's sad when they leave, it was time to let him go. Hopefully I won't have any more Rainbow bridge stories for a long while.

Doggie Home Care Medicine Chest Submitted by: Julie Goldman

First aid and home remedies don't replace proper veterinary care, but they can keep dogs more comfy until medical care is available. And sometimes a home remedy is all that's needed. Even if human meds work on dogs, the doses usually are lower due to the smaller size of the dog. Your vet can tell you the exact dose needed for your specific pet but here are some common human medicines that benefit dogs.

30 Common Human Medicines for Dogs

- A & D Ointment: antibacterial for scrapes and wounds.

23 Helpful Household Items

In the best of all possible worlds, emergencies never happen or if they do, dog owners have a professional medical kit handy. These should be stocked with sterile gauze pads in different sizes, elastic Ace bandages, needle-less syringes and eyedroppers for medication and even stretchers. You can buy commercial kits from pet supply stores and catalogues or put together your own, and it's very helpful to have a handy pet first aid how-to guide handy.

But all too often pet owners don't think about being prepared until after the first emergency. If you find yourself faced with a doggy health crises you may be surprised how many everyday items around the house or in your pantry can be helpful.

- Blanket/cookie sheet/ironing board: stretcher
- Bubble Wrap: stabilize leg fracture/injury
- Canned Pumpkin: for constipation or diarrhea
- Condoms: to cover injured/bleeding paw
- Dawn Dishwashing Soap: decontaminate fur
- Heat pad: for arthritis/aches
- Hose/sink spray: flushing wounds
- Hydrogen peroxide (3%): given orally to prompt vomiting
- Ice bag/frozen peas: topical pain control
- Karo syrup/honey: for shock
- KY Jelly: lubricant such as for eye out of socket
- Olive oil: to suffocate/kill ear mites
- Pliers: remove porcupine quills/foreign object in mouth
- Pantyhose/necktie: muzzle
- Mustache trimmer: clip fur around wounds
- Needle/Safety pin: acupuncture CPR
- Teabags, soaked and cooled: to treat hot spots
